

US

Issue 434
April 9, 2007
www.usmagazine.com

WEEK

SAINT OR SINNER

HER TWISTED DOUBLE LIFE

- Her broken promise to be a stay-at-home mom
- Secret fights with Brad over Pax's adoption
- How she uses her kids to manipulate the media

MAKEOVER SPECIAL!

20 Page Bonus

- Amazing Before & Afters!
- Best Spring Looks
- Hollywood's New Plastic Surgery

ANNA NICOLE New Secrets of Her Final Hours

HOLLYWOOD Before & After

The star of E!'s The Girls Next Door (and Hugh Hefner's girlfriend) tells Us why she decided to get plastic surgery

HOLLY MADISON, THE NO. 1 GIRL-friend of Hugh Hefner, 80, and the star of E!'s The Girls Next Door, has taken it all off for Playboy, but she wasn't always so comfortable in her skin. "I felt I looked the worst when Hef and I got together in 2001," Oregon native Madison, 27, tells Us. The 5-foot-7 stunner (whose measurements are 36-23-35) opens up about how rhinoplasty and breast augmentation changed her body and attitude.

Bigger & Better

I always wanted to have my boobs done, because I wanted to be more proportionate. I was a 34-A, but I'm curvy in other areas, so I always wore padded bras and stuffed my bras with socks. I finally decided to get implants in 2001, but I really had to talk Hef into it. He's seen a lot of bad surgery! I researched doctors and went to Dr. Garth Fisher (Extreme Makeover). I wanted a D-cup. The doctor wanted to go smaller and I talked him up! The procedure took a few hours,

BEFORE

BREASTS

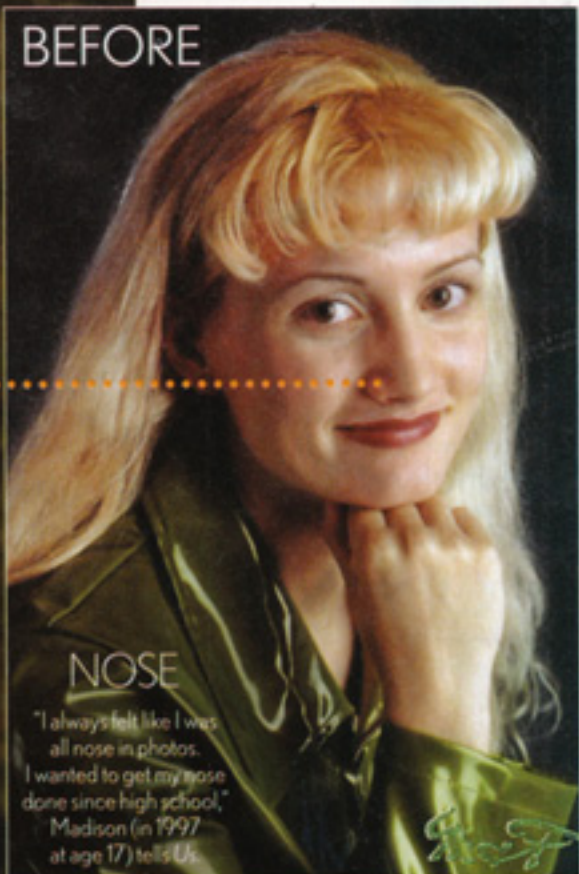

Madison (in her first modeling head shot at age 20 in 2000) used to wear padded bras to bulk up her bosom.

AFTER

"I meet a lot of girls who always want to get things done, and I caution them: Don't rush into it," Madison advises. Her nonsurgical secrets to looking great? She keeps in shape with thrice-weekly workouts of yoga, weight training and hiking, and she does her own makeup using Alexis Vogel cosmetics.

BEFORE

NOSE

"I always felt like I was all nose in photos. I wanted to get my nose done since high school," Madison (in 1997 at age 17) tells Us.

and afterward, I was nauseous from the anesthesia and sore in the chest, which was swollen for months. The implants felt heavy and took time to get used to!

Two years later, I decided to get a nose job, because it kept getting more angular as I aged. Again I found a great doctor — Raj Kanodia [credited with fixing the noses of Ashlee Simpson and Jennifer Aniston]. The recovery was hard. My face was sore, I couldn't breathe through my nose and my tongue was dry. I felt miserable until the packing [tubes of tissue in the nose] was removed. It felt like my brain was being pulled out of my nose, but after, I felt fine.

A New Me

Now I'm really happy. I don't have to stuff my bra, and I feel more comfortable naked. And my nose, which had a bump, is now shorter and upturned. It makes a huge difference in pictures. I wouldn't get anything else done right now. Maybe when I'm 60, but I don't want to go back under the knife anytime soon!

Those wedding rumors? "Not now. Maybe next year!" says Madison (with Hefner in 2005).

CLOCKWISE FROM TOP: JEFFREY MATTAR; ALISTON; GETTY IMAGES; COURTESY OF HOLLY MADISON; ROGER WILKINSON; COURTESY OF HOLLY MADISON